

THE UNIVERSITY
OF RHODE ISLAND
OUTREACH CENTER

About the URI Outreach Center – “The Outreach Center offers a variety of programs and services and also fields requests for assistance from College and Cooperative Extension experts. The Center also serves as a point of access through which these groups can access research-based knowledge and obtain assistance to address a broad range of environmental and socioeconomic issues. Current focus areas include horticulture, urban agriculture and energy, however, we strive to remain programmatically flexible and responsive to changes in stakeholder demand, developing new programs and projects as the need arises and/or opportunities emerge.”

ENERGY PROGRAMS –

- Sustainable Energy Extension Programs - The URI Outreach Center hosts Extension educators with varied expertise in energy benchmarking, policy-making and adult education to mentor graduate and undergraduate and develop and implement energy education programs. Our educational programs provide attendees with the opportunity to expand their knowledge and access the latest resources to make informed decisions about energy use at work and at home.
- Energy Fellows Program - Undergraduate and graduate students leave the Energy Fellows Program with an understanding of current energy issues in the State of Rhode Island and their potential role to take part in managing those issues in the energy field. We prepare our students to enter the job market with the professional skills and training needed to succeed.
- Ocean State Clean Cities Coalition - Ocean State Clean Cities works to gather science-based, verifiable information about alternative fuels, idle reduction, and fuel economy to share with stakeholders. These stakeholders include fuel providers, private fleets, state officials, municipalities, and environmental organizations interested in saving money, fostering energy independence, and protecting our environment.
